

I working in a news room for a while and always felt the information that made the news was filtered and incomplete. Allowing fewer companies to own more will further consolidate how the news is prepared and delivered and in my opinion this is a disservice to the people of America.